EDUCATION

Ph.D. Agricultural Economics. 1992.

Michigan State University, East Lansing, Michigan.

Dissertation: "Distributional Effects of Currency Devaluation on Households in Rwanda"

M.S. Agricultural Economics. 1985.

Michigan State University, East Lansing, Michigan.

Thesis: "Wheat Seed Marketing in the Lowlands of Bolivia"

B.A. International Development. 1979.

Brown University, Providence, Rhode Island.

EXPERIENCE

International Food Policy Research Institute (Washington, D.C.)

Post-doctoral Fellow

1997 – 1998

Research Fellow

1998 - 2004

Senior Research Fellow

2004 – present

Deputy Director or Acting Director of MTID

2015 – present

As Senior Research Fellow, led studies of the transformation of markets for high-value commercial crops in Indonesia, the impact of market information systems in sub-Saharan Africa, impact of trade liberalization in North Africa and the Middle East, contract farming in Asia, staple food value chains in Africa, seed programs in sub-Saharan Africa, and linkages between international markets and local markets in Africa. Also co-led a multi-country project on agricultural marketing in sub-Saharan Africa and researched agricultural transformation in Ethiopia. As Research Fellow, led studies of income and crop diversification in Vietnam, spatial patterns in poverty in Vietnam, and poverty trends in Tanzania. Also carried out research on Vietnamese horticulture, horticultural exports from Africa, the effects of market reform in Benin, and co-authored a book on agricultural reforms in Africa. As Post-doctoral Fellow, analyzed the impact of rice marketing policy on poverty in Vietnam using a spatial equilibrium model. Carried out training courses on agricultural policy analysis, market price analysis, GAMS modeling, analysis of survey data, and poverty mapping methods. Was based at the IFPRI office in Uganda from August 2010 to June 2012.

University of Illinois (Urbana-Champaign, Illinois)

Visiting Assistant Professor

August 1994 - June 1995

Designed and taught two courses on agricultural policy in developing countries and advised doctoral students, conducted research, and participated on various committees.

Centre for International Economics (Canberra, Australia)

Social Dimensions of Adjustment Advisor, Zimbabwe

Teacher of English-as-a-Foreign-Language

September 1978 - June 1979

EXPERIENCE (short-term)

Policy modeling, Washington, D.C.

July – Oct. 1996, Dec. 1996 – Feb. 1997

International Food Policy Research Institute (Washington, D.C.)

Developed a spatial-equilibrium model of food markets Viet Nam and analyzed the impact of rice marketing policy options.

Survey design, Paraguay

May-June, November 1996

The World Bank (Washington, D.C.)

Designed an expenditure module for national household survey, constructed poverty lines, generated tables for a poverty profile, and trained local analysts.

Survey design and analysis, Lao P.D.R.

September 1995-February 1996

GTZ (Germany)

Managed a national survey of small enterprises to study the composition, growth, revenue, assets, and debts, including questionnaire design, enumerator training, analysis, and report preparation.

Poverty profile, Washington, D.C.

World Bank (Washington, D.C.)

Co-authored a paper providing a poverty profile for Rwanda based on household budget data to serve as background for the design of a structural adjustment program.

Fertilizer survey analysis, Cameroon

July-August 1990

Abt Associates (Washington, D.C.)

Analyzed results of three surveys on fertilizer use, concentrating on the implications for the on-going program to liberalize fertilizer markets and remove subsidies.

Household budget survey analysis, Rwanda July 1990

Michigan State University (East Lansing, Michigan)

Prepared tables and text for report on household budget patterns in Rwanda, including estimation of consumer demand model.

Fertilizer survey design, Cameroon July-August 1989

Abt Associates (Washington D.C.)

Designed two regional and one national survey on fertilizer use and the effects of the fertilizer reform program. Negotiated preliminary research protocols with three implementing organizations.

Household budget survey analysis, Rwanda June-July 1989

Michigan State University (East Lansing, Michigan).

Cleaned and organized urban income and consumption data from the National Household Budget and Consumption Survey.

Monitoring and evaluation system design, Cameroon February-March 1989

Abt Associates (Washington D.C.)

Designed monitoring and evaluation system for the fertilizer marketing reform program, including a reporting system and series of surveys.

Household budget survey analysis, Rwanda January-February 1989

Michigan State University (East Lansing, Michigan)

Provided training in the cleaning, processing, and analysis of urban household budget data based on experience with rural data.

Agricultural marketing studies, Peru May-June 1985

Academy for Educational Development (Washington, D.C.)

Coordinated a team of four local agronomists studying potato, citrus, cotton, and maize marketing in Peru. Estimated price elasticity of urban demand for potatoes.

Research Assistant September 1989 - July 1992

Michigan State University (East Lansing, Michigan)

Research toward doctoral dissertation on the distributional impact of currency devaluation on real income, demand, and nutrition in Rwanda.

Teaching/Research Assistant Sept. 1982 - Mar. 1984, Jan. - Mar. 1985

Michigan State University (East Lansing, Michigan)

Prepared paper on linkages between research and extension. Assisted in the teaching of a graduate course on agriculture and economic development.
